POLISH CONSUMER PROFILE

Price oriented

„Loyal” to promotions and sales, not to the store brand (shopping at 6 different store brands)

1/3 of consumers are promotion hunters

ECO, VEGE, BIO is a trend for big cities but most of consumers live outside of big cities

Consumers choose modern convenience and proximity supermarkets (12 visits in discounts, 13 in traditional shops, 14 in bakeries/monthly)

Orientation for local and hiper-local products

THE IMPACT OF PANDEMIC ON POLISH RETAIL

In 2020 price is again the main factor of shop and product selection, so retail flirts with hard discount format

Consumers search for “simpler” non-processed products and bigger packages, because they returned to cooking at home

Consumers look for local products, so each supermarket has its Polish, local product shelf

Consumers search for healthy products (+40 % YTY), so each retail chain has its „health corner”

Consumers choose nearby shops: discounts, convenience, traditional

Consumers start to be open for e-grocery

Retailers invest in self-service checkouts and cashless payments and e-commerce solutions
